Evaluations and Screenings

We provide complete evaluations, supplemental testing, screenings and evaluation reviews for students depending on their individual need. We offer expertise in evaluating all aspects of language skills from the semantic, syntax and pragmatic communication realms. Our specialized cognitive skills training and extensive experiences with cognitive remediation programs, our evaluations also incorporate an understanding of the influence a student's cognitive skills can have on learning and communication, including attention, organization, memory, problem solving, reasoning and executive function skills. The evaluations also incorporate the use of student questionnaires and interviews in order to determine the level of metacognitive skills that are pertinent to improving independent learning and communication skills. This approach has proved particularly useful for understanding the language and cognitive skill levels for the purposes of developing highly specific goals.
